

SHRIEKS OF WOMEN, CHILDREN AND STRUGGLING MEN HEARD AS ANCONA, PIERCED TO THE HEART, IS ENGULFED BY WAVES

London, Nov. 11.—The Italian liner Ancona was not sunk without warning, according to information from survivors landed at Malta by the Renter correspondent and cabled here. The Austrian submarine which overhauled her after a long, stern chase gave the commander a brief respite to permit the removal of passengers, but the indescribable panic which began among the immigrants on board as soon as the underwater craft was sighted was responsible for the loss of many lives. In a mad rush for safety, men, women and children overwhelmed the boats, several of which were overturned before they could be lowered. Many of the occupants fell into the sea and were drowned.

The Renter despatch which contains the first connected story of the sinking of the Ancona Monday afternoon, twenty hours after she had left Messina, Sicily, follows:

"We left Naples with a fairly large number of passengers, intending to sail direct to New York, but soon after leaving port received a wireless message directing us to stop at Messina for more passengers and cargo. The people aboard were mostly Greeks and Italians with large families on their way to the United States to settle there. The majority, therefore, were women and children."

"We left Messina at five p. m. The captain, having been warned of the presence of enemy submarines took all possible precautions. At exactly one o'clock Monday afternoon we sighted an enemy submarine at a great distance. She came to the surface and made full speed in our direction, firing as she did so a shot which went wide across our bow. We took this to be a warning, to halt."

"Immediately there was the wildest panic aboard, not only among the women and children, (Continued On Page Six)

FIND MORE SURVIVORS; REPORT 27 AMERICANS AS MISSING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Secretary Lansing announced today that the state department is making every effort to gather information and details on the sinking of the Italian liner Ancona. The department does not know the source of information contained in consular dispatches and dispatches from Ambassador Page, at Rome, and is yet unable to determine how many Americans were lost. It is entirely without official advice as to the circumstances of the sinking or the nationality of the submarine which shelled and torpedoed the ship. Dispatches from Malta, Bizerta, Rome and Naples all contain fragments of information. Statements were taken from survivors wherever they may land and the United States will gather all possible information before taking the matter up with any foreign government.

Mrs. Claude Grahame-White, wife of the daring British army aviator who raided Cuxhaven, was erroneously reported imprisoned as a German spy in England, while her husband was reported shot for the same reason. The building destroyed was of brick construction and was four stories in height. The building in which the company is planning to make gun barrels for European belligerents, is some distance from the burned structure.

BRITISH SUBS AND GERMAN SQUADRON CLASHED

Copenhagen, Nov. 11. (Via London)—A cannonade of terrific intensity was heard in the neighborhood of the Fehmarn belt in the Baltic Sea. It is believed by those who heard it to have been the result of a British submarine attack on a German squadron.

The firing lasted twenty minutes was of such violence that the doors and windows on the rocky harbor were blown open. Houses vibrated as though in an earthquake. The weather was so thick that it was impossible to observe any of the details of the engagement.

PEACE RUMORS WILL NOT DOWN

In line with his announcement in his Manhattan Club speech in New York last week the President will appeal to men of all parties for legislation to strengthen the army and navy.

Officials today took the view that the President is hopeful, that his plans will receive the support of Republicans and thus overcome the opposition of some Democrats, led by former Secretary Bryan.

No definite arrangements for conferences between the President and Republican leaders have been made, but the question will be taken up as soon as members of senate and house begin arriving in Washington. The ranking Republican members of the senate and house military ing of, close to $10,000 to the Portsmouth concern. Conditions make it imperative that the Whitaker-Glessner Co. buy its pig iron from the Ironton furnaces, although the freight rate from Ironton to Portsmouth is higher than it should be, in the estimation of the shippers, it is still much lower than the rate to any of the iron fields.

Grey Also Wanted To Resign

If the reduction asked for is granted it will mean that the production of steel by the Whitaker-Glessner Co. will be reduced 21 cents per ton in cost, which will enable them to operate when steel is selling at a lower rate than they could if the reduction is not granted, and since the Ironton furnaces supply practically all of the iron it will mean that Ironton furnaces will be in operation more than before.

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root which soon heals and strengthens the kidneys is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Portsmouth Daily Times.

Hon. Harry L. Gordon and J. P. Orr, of Cincinnati, the principal speakers at the Eighth Annual Banquet of the Business Men's Association at "The Club" this evening, arrived in Portsmouth on the 2:52 P. The two visitors were escorted to this side of the river by the committee, where automobiles were in waiting to take them for a sight-seeing tour of Portsmouth and surrounding country. They were shown the permanently improved high-ways leading out of the city, to the north and east, the new Hilltop residence section, the city's leading industries, and other points of interest.

During their stay here Messrs. Gordon and Orr will be entertained at the Washington Hotel, where ample arrangements have been made for them by the committee.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Portsmouth People to Neglect

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they so often get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health will be gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease may follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, which are so strongly recommended right here in Portsmouth.

S. A. Ingles, engineer, 715 Mill St., Portsmouth, says: "I think exposure to the extremes of heat and cold when I worked at the ice plant, brought on kidney trouble. When I bent over to pick up a cake of ice, a sharp pain caught me in the small of my back and I could hardly raise up. The kidney secretions were scanty, contained sediment and burned in passage. I read how someone else had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got a box at Hager's drug store. I felt right away and one box certainly fixed me up in fine shape."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Ingles had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SCENE FROM "THE SEATS OF THE MIGHTY" MADE BY NEW YORK MOTION PICTURE CORPORATION

Clever Bessie Barriscale in "The Mating" at the Lyric Tonight. Cyril Maude in "Peer Gynt" Tomorrow

Bessie Barriscale, whose triumphs in Thos. H. Ince masterpieces are proving her one of the greatest emotional actresses of the screen eclipses all her former successes as the star in "The Mating," a wonderful picture story in five parts, a story that deviates somewhat from her other plays and furnishes a unique plot with a wealth of human interest and strong dramatic effect. As "Doris," the simple country girl, who is not familiar with life in the big outer world, Miss Barriscale has a role that affords her splendid opportunity for demonstrating her

"The Seats of the Mighty" World Film Co.'s Big Magnificent Production. Columbia To-morrow

The 6-part photoplay, "The Seats of the Mighty", which was presented at the Casino New York by the World Film Corporation originally extended to ten reels, but has been cut or condensed forty per cent without sacrificing the interest of sequence of the story. In these days of universal information when all secrets of the motion picture craft are fully exposed this fact will no doubt be of interest to the myriads of fans who will see the picture on Broadway, New York, and throughout the country. Experience has shown that in six or seven parts of approximately a thousand feet each you reach the limits of endurance of nearly all audiences. And this allows the producer of a picture to condense everything necessary in the way of action that is demanded of him, within such footage.

"The Seats of the Mighty" is a high grade feature film, containing French court scenes; duels; a battle; constant plotting and counterplotting; a love story with its attendant disappointments and delays before the lovers are finally united; almost every human passion is vividly illustrated in this picture. Nor are the beauties of art and nature omitted from it, the eye is as generously catered for as are your sympathies and antipathies. It is pure drama from start to finish, without any padding or dragging. The World Film Corporation great wave of popularity by her remarkable acting in A. H. Woods' production of "The Song of Songs". "Sealed Valley" is a five act photo-play from the novel of the same name by Hulbert Footner.

As Nahmya, the Indian girl, who sacrifices her love in order that another might be happy, Dorothy Donnelly has a superb opportunity of displaying her remarkable talents as an emotional actress.

The Exhibit "A Countess Count"

The daughter and sweetheart are in love, but their affairs move anything but smoothly, because the father has other ideas for his daughter's marriage. He has already selected the Count as a future son-in-law, but the daughter has a nasty temper, of her own, and refuses point blank. The father has never seen the Count and finds an Irishman in the park whom he mistakes for the Count and invites him home to dinner. Amazing complications result when the real Count arrives. The sweetheart disguises himself as the butler and makes everything end happily.

"The Girl of the Gypsy Camp" is a three reel feature of a story of a young girl kidnapped by a band of gypsies and her hat thrown in the river to give the impression she was drowned. To save the father's reason another child, a boy, is adopted and many years after the two marry. The father unknowingly tries to drive his daughter from their neighborhood, but fate rules otherwise. This feature contains many beautiful also thrilling scenes that will please you.

Joe Martin "Turns 'Em Loose at the Arcana"

This two-reel has got all the posed-in African films that have played backed up into the swamp for realism. If Bison thrillers in the past have kept audiences on the edges of their seats, this will fill them so full of laughing gas and thrills that if they don't float through the ceiling of the theatre it will be because they've tied themselves to the floor before-hand. "Joe Loose" is indescribable. It was put on by an animal trainer of many years' experience. "Fifty-Fifty" is a humorous story of a clerk transferred from the dry goods counter of a department store to the management of soda business.

"The Last Word" is a pathetic story of Dad manager of a nerve service bureau for over forty years, but it discharged to make room for younger blood. It shows how his friends tried to keep the bad news from him, but eventually he learned the truth, with fatal results. "A beautiful picture and at the same time one not very pleasing to many corporations. Don't overlook this great offering for today."

THEATRICAL

"Cost of Living" at Sun Today Wm. Anthony McGuire's latest play, "The Cost of Living," is to present day economic conditions what this same author's "The Divorce Question" proved to be to morality. A stinging, biting gripping attack upon modern disregard of ethical requirements.

In his new play Mr. McGuire relates the story of two girls, sisters, who work in a department store, and upon the low wages earned, strive to support their mother and themselves. Their struggle is pitifully, if dramatically, described in four acts of big, human interest. How the older sister, becoming cynical of what constitutes right and wrong, betrays her virtue for worldly luxuries, and how the younger sister honestly married to a shipping clerk, whose salary is but fifteen dollars a week, almost follows in her evil footsteps through envy of her sister's apparent happiness, is told in the many intense scenes of this big play. Mr. McGuire claims first of all that the high cost of living is more of a moral condition than an economic one.

ALL AS ONE LIVES.

The funeral of the late Reverend Father Gosselin, at Ashland, Wednesday morning, is said to have been by far the largest and most imposing ever held in the Kentucky city. In his honor every business house was closed not for a few minutes, but for the full two hours consumed in the burial service.

It may sound rather strange, in these days, when so much religious rancor is on parade, that such a striking tribute should be paid by all, regardless of creed to this humble Catholic priest, but not so in actual fact. Sift it down to its last element and the esteem of a man is not founded on what he professes, or on what we may believe, but what he practices. Father Gosselin was neither a brilliant orator, nor of unusual intellect. He was a simple, good man, who loved his fellow man, proven himself in charity, gentleness and consideration. To him every mortal was God's creature, answerable to his Creator for his conduct, and that not to be either unjustly, nor harshly judged by another mortal. He could not mold the doctrines for each, but he could grant each the right of free will and friendly consideration. So he labored diligently and loved earnestly and to him came the finest blessing a mortal can strive for a good name and the good will of his fellowman, and in death he was honored and mourned generously and sympathetically as he had striven.

A MERE AGREEMENT

A Columbus telegram informs us there was no deal on the senatorship included in the nice little talk between Senator Burton and our good young Governor, Monday, in which the former became an open candidate for president and the latter avowed himself out for re-nomination.

Certainly not; the confab was a mere gentlemen's agreement, the full scope of which is premised in the quick disavowal of Herrick and Harding that they will contest for Ohio delegation to the national convention, leaving a clear field to Burton, who is given carte blanche, which means a free hand, to hand pick his own delegates, "after full consultation with the district leaders", the mere voters not being considered of voice in the highly important matter; the instantaneous suppression of "Jack" Arnold, who has been buzzing around like a beetle and quite as harmless; and the sudden rise of the senatorial stock of Harry Daugherty, reaping all the usufruct of the play.

So far as Democrats are concerned they should be more than pleased with the arrangement. Burton is not much of a politician and he is less of a demagogue. He is made of honest and rather plain stuff and all through his congressional career, both in house and senate, he showed himself big and strong enough to be his own man. His candidacy is one that no Buckeye, no matter what his politics, need have any shame of, no matter what its eventual outcome. As for the Willis pronouncement it ought to be and will be welcomed by Democrats with exceeding great joy and the advent of Harry Daugherty will be received with only less gladness. Our good young Governor is at the end of his rope and Daugherty never won a race of consequence and never will, he's a mere exhibit of how long a hubbly can float on the tempestuous seas of politics without getting bursted and dissolved into impalpable gray mist.

The Hon. Ed. Jones, of Jackson, Ohio, has emerged from the pall of gloom that has enveloped him ever since he rode behind Undertaker Al Wood's snow white horses, and announces that he is not a political corpse but on the contrary is about the liveliest receptive candidate for something in the way of an office there is in Ohio. The Hon. Ed says he has been importuned by scores of Republicans to be a candidate for governor, but that out of consideration for Frank B. Willis he has decided not to oppose him. Incidentally he takes a rap at Willis for disregarding party organizations and committees in the selection of office holders. Then the Hon. Ed coyly admits that he has under consideration the advisability of throwing his hat in the ring for United States Senator but he backs away from a definite announcement. If Ed goes in for this plum he will undoubtedly make a great fight and the other contenders will find that he is no mean opponent.

And if the Hon. Ed wins we'll bet a nickel that he bars undertaker's outfits from the "welcome home" procession.

Dogs in Ohio are killing sheep valued at ten million dollars every year, the auditor of state says. It may not be as bad as that. It is noticeable that sheep killed by dogs often increase enormously in value over night, says the Gallipolis Tribune.

Yes, and the stray cows killed or injured by automobiles are in the same class. In some psychological manner the value of each and every cow that gets in the way of an auto is placed by the owner at $75, no more no less, and each cow is of the best pedigree variety. "An automobile owner once told us he did not believe there was a common, ordinary cow in Ohio. And he knows too, for he had been in half-a-dozen encounters with cows.

And with the election past council still displays no overweening desire to tackle that jitney ordinance.

It doesn't make a bit of difference if the solidly Republican council will claim credit for extending the flood wall. The thing is to extend it.

"IN THE HANDS OF HIS FRIENDS."

STAGGERS COMPREHENSION.

According to report now given out by the federal agricultural department, the corn yield of the United States, the greatest one in experience, for the year 1915, totals over three billion bushels and is of a monetary value of better than two billion dollars.

These are figures that are beyond reality of comprehension. But some idea of their magnitude will be felt, if a truth is already being felt, in the prosperity they work out for the country. Every branch and line of industry and business is quickened by this bounteous yield and the good prices that rule for it. Particularly is its influence upon conditions apparent in the increasingly large number and quality of automobiles farmers are buying. Instead of an occasional buyer among them they are furnishing a full half of the customers, and they are not looking for the cheapest cars on the market, but are most favoring those that are regarded as of modest price. This is to be looked upon as an indication of development far out of the ordinary, because it lifts the farmer from the reproach of the past that he ever wanted the cheapest thing he could get, and was averse to providing himself with any comforts, in say nothing of luxury. In a general way the automobile is going to be his best investment. He can find use for it that will make it valuable and it will have the effect of broadening and quickening his interest and his observation, meaning of course, it is going to make him the better farmer, and following from that the better buyer. For what he may lag in the latter, through lack of observation, his women folks will be quick enough to make up for him and eventually the automobile will revolutionize country life, just as it has turned everything upside down in town. Of his new estate all can heartily gratulate him, because the welfare of the nation comes fundamentally from the soil and if he who digs into it and plows it up, is not beatered by the sunshine of plenty, scarce, indeed, will be the rays of fortune that will fall upon the rest.

May be it is just our way of looking at it, but as we see it this tireless and popular purveyor of events has of late been publishing much news that its German readers will readily admit is real news. Still let it be remembered that The Times spends thousands of dollars to get the news, so said to be, and not a dollar to make it.

Now it is Mr. Villa that is proving he who runs away lives to fight another day. He has right about faced and is again marching on Agua Pietra to maim and cripple, age, perches, kill a few more Americans, whose curiosity gets the better of discretion.

Mr. Kitcher, of North Carolina, or is it Georgia? says the kettle will not boil with any of this preparedness stew if he has got to tote in the fuel.

And now we shall see if Lord Kitchener makes good as a pinch hitter.

WILSON AND BRYAN.

Though William Jennings Bryan left President Wilson's cabinet avowing the warmest personal friendship for him and admiration for his course, outside the manner in which our neutrality was being construed, what was then suspected, that the two were at the parting of the ways, has become more of a fixed conviction with the lapse of time—at least on the part of Mr. Bryan.

The turbulent advocacy of peace plans by the latter and the sources from which came chief approbation to him and in them a distinct note of unfriendliness to the president and now the extreme violence with which the Nebraska senator opposes the moderate and tentative preparedness methods put forth from the White House, points with seeming clearness to an early situation where he will be found in fervid antagonism and opposition to Wilson generally.

Judging from his past career, nothing else was to have been expected. For the time being, at least, there can be no question that what Bryan believes he believes with all the fervor of his mind and temperament. His is not an intellect to qualify, nor a disposition to repress. Most easily he runs to both opposition and the unfried and the sublimated and his consummate cleverness in wielding the former and his unsurpassed imagery in painting the latter are the salient qualities that give him leadership.

And while we may deplore his position and question the correctness of his views, there should be no quarrel with him. As a man and a citizen he is entitled to have, hold and express his opinions on all public questions, in all the sincerity that actuates him and the ability he undoubtedly possesses, and as a Democrat, it is his privilege and duty so to be coupled with his active purpose to persuade his party to a certain course, where it has not already declared what that course shall be. From his record we can safely enough assume that when his party has once duly spoken he will give his adhesion both to it and its candidate.

And as it is to confess, says the Cleveland Leader, there are probably people in Cleveland who would go to hear Bryan talk. Sadder still to the Leader there are thousands to go away and vote as he talks.

We agree that if the Congressional Record is to be issued this session, and it doubtless will be, the only way to make it useful is to size its pages so they will fit the pantry shelf.

Aha, we have it. That last drive against the Teutons wasn't any drive at all, only a feeder. The big drive, the only and one drive, so we are told, is going to come this winter.

France is going to spend five hundred million dollars in this country for machinery to equip and modernize her industrial plants. That sounds more like real business, and something to which none either can or will have objection.

A contemporary maintains that England is more mistress of the seas than ever. Granted that be true what is it going to profit her if Germany be suffered to lick all the land and take possession of it?

In view of the late unpleasant event we feel Roy will be justified in informing Charlie that there is no such thing as a second term courtesy to prevail with the G. O. P. in this district.

It would appear young Doc Sellards has fallen into innocuous demerol since the election. Yet that safety directorship hangs trembling in the air.

Has any one down here laid before our good young Governor the figures showing Who's really Who in this man's town?

Our delightful friend Newt Baker must hold some misgivings these days as to the beauty and sincerity of the Mary Ann form of balloting.

Don't have any misgivings as to the fact that Count Von Bernstorff doesn't know when silence is golden.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 11.—Gaby is back on Broadway. The terpsichorean fashion plate brought with her a chauffeur, a Japanese servant, two maids, a secretary and her dancing partner, Harry Pileer, who used to "spiel" on the East Side.

Gaby also brought some trunks. The steward lost track of them somewhere in the twenties and the custom officers sent out for an adding machine. Mile. Deslys has been singing and dancing for the soldiers in the hospitals. She calls it the "periscope fund."

The money she collected is used partly to buy periscopes for the fighting men. While talking to the news-hounds at the pier a shrill bark was heard in Gaby's big fur coat and out jumped a Mexican hairless puppy.

Gaby says she is very fond of New York which of course makes it nice for the six million people who live here or hereabouts.

Down in the Waldorf corridors the other day a page boy made the rounds calling for "Mr. Rockefeller."

No one seemed to reply, but he kept it up. Finally Harry Brown, of the Times, who was waiting for a luncheon engagement called the boy over.

"What initials have that Mr. Rockefeller?"

"Oh, no initials at all," replied the boy, "I just didn't have anything to do and thought I'd kill a little time."

Frank Tinney is back from Chicago for a few days. He has been playing in a musical show there and brings with him one of the brightest stories of the week.

The famous alderman, "Hinky Dink" McKenna is building a big lodging house there and one evening met Tinney. He told him about his plans and asked Tinney what he thought would be a good name.

Right away Tinney suggested "Vermin Castle."

The Evening Sun tritely suggests that the gentleman seeking divorce from Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and the lady who may or may not marry Al Davis join hands and take a long wedding trip to Kamehatka.

Honey Croy, the humorist, gave a unique party last week at his home at Forest Hills for a group of writers and artists. The game of the evening was fan-tau and the house was appropriately bedecked in Chinese curios and hangings.

Croy was dressed in a Chinese costume and burning incense was concealed all about the house. During the evening a young reporter who was present nudged his neighbor and said:

"I smell punk."

"Well, I can't say that it is anything to brag about," was the snappy rejoinder.

Charles F. Zittel is an illustrious example of what a young man can do in New York without capital—but an idea. Several years ago he was second assistant to a dramatic critic and he conceived the idea of reviewing vaudeville shows in the same style as is used in the race-track charts. It became popular instantly and the thousands of dollars worth of theatrical advertising poured into the newspaper and the originator is said to command a salary that exceeds that of any managing editor in town.

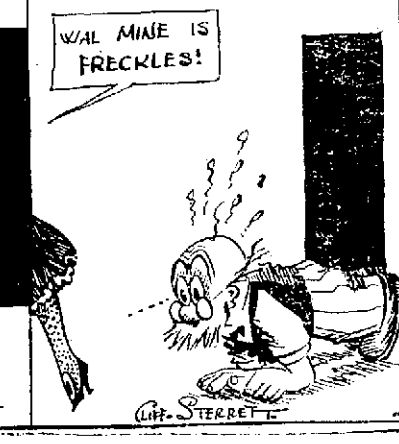

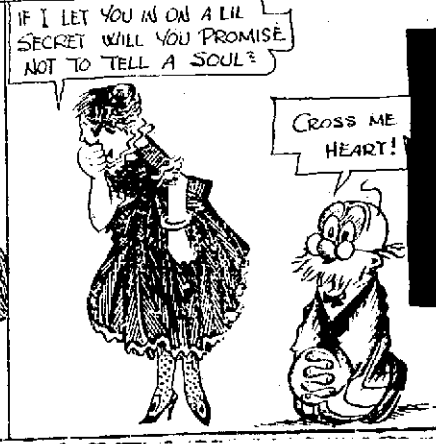

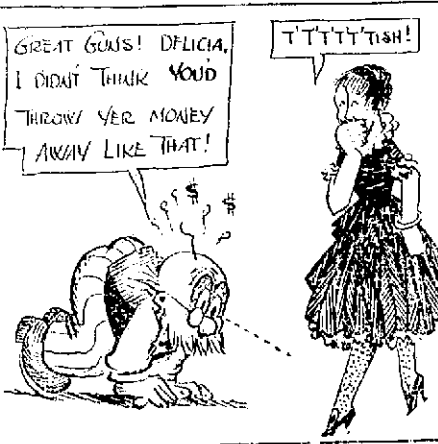

Fred Stone is learning to ride a bucking broncho at his home at Amityville with the assistance of Will Rogers, the lariat thrower. Stone has a record of staying in the saddle fifteen seconds and is getting so he can light on other parts of his body beside his head.

Local Names In The List

Saturday, December 11th, is the date the Southern Express Company has selected for its annual "O. H." (on hand) sale, which will be held at fronton. Quite a number of Portsmouth names appear on the list of those who failed to claim packages.

DELICIA WINS BY NATURE'S HELP

POLLY AND HER PALS

Long About Thanksgiving
Atmosphere, cool and clear;
Breezes now and then,
Whisperin' tidings of good cheer,
Bringin' hope to men
Long about Thanksgiving.

Harvest fields with their yields;
Well filled barns and cribs,
Satisfaction sort of steals
Round a feller's ribs
Long about Thanksgiving.

Cupboards packed, cellar
stacked;
Everything in cans,
Eyes are winked, tips are smacked
For appetite demands
Long about Thanksgiving.

Turkeys scared, ax repaired;
Red cranberry sauce,
War on all is now declared
By Ma, who sure is boss
Long about Thanksgiving.

Thanks we owe, God we know
Gave us what we've got,
Thus the Pilgrims long ago
Eat and prayed a lot
Long about Thanksgiving.

How About Mama-In-Law?

Had Designs on Father

Frank's mother took him to an entertainment of magic one afternoon, and the little boy was very much pleased and impressed. That evening during dinner, Frank said:

"Father, I wish I was a magician."

"Why, my son?"

"Well," said Frank, "I would turn you into a rat, eat the cat, and wouldn't I have a lark."

Novelties For The School Room
Several new articles have been purchased for the school. Among these are a clock, sash curtains, a water cooler and pencil sharpener.—Fulton County Tribune.

Speaking of Literature

William Dean Howells, at a dinner in Boston, said of modern American letters:

"The average popular novel shows on the novelist's part an ignorance of his trade which reminds me of a New England clerk. In a New England village I entered the main street department store one afternoon and said to the clerk at the book counter: 'Let me have, please, the letters of Charles Lamb.'"

"Post office right across the street, Mr. Lamb," said the clerk, with a naive, brisk smile.—Exchange.

Hat Parks' Dog

The New Jersey man who mined his face with small quantities of dynamite so that every time a mosquito jabbed his back into a mine it exploded, sending the mauler to kingdom come, reminds us of Hat Parks' dog. Hat owned a dog and so did his neighbor, and every day the neighbor's dog came over and bit a piece out of Hat's canine. Hat finally got tired of seeing his faithful companion leave him little by little, so one day when he saw the neighbor dog coming for his usual meal, he caught his dog and fed a stick of dynamite to his side, and the neighbor's dog, mistaking it for a good fat rib, took a healthy chew and was blown to bits. And it never hurt my dog at all," says Hat in telling about it.—Pewee News.

A Remarkable Discovery

"Some of the grandest discoveries of the ages," said the great scientist, sonorously, "have been the result of accidents. 'I can readily believe that,' said the fair lady. 'I once made one that way myself.' The great man blinked his amazement. 'May I ask what it was?' 'Certainly,' replied the fair one. 'I found that by keeping a bottle of ink handy you can use a fountain pen just like any other pen—without all the trouble of filling it.'—Christian Register.

Caught Green Bass

Francis Dault, of the Tracy Shoe Company, made a splendid catch while fishing on the Solon river. It was a green bass that weighed 4½ pounds.

YOUR EYES ARE YOUR BREAD WINNERS

Take care of them. If you would stop and think what it would mean to be deprived of your eyesight how utterly helpless you would be, you wouldn't abuse your eyes in the least but would take the greatest care of them always.

This moment you feel that any thing is wrong, if your sight is blurred, if you feel dazed, if your eyes tire easily, you should not lose a minute in having them examined. By being prompt in attending to your eyes at the first sign of trouble you will be able to have the defect speedily and permanently cured.

We make no charge for examination and recommend glasses only when necessary.

Husbands Shake Hands, But Wives Refused To At Hearing

Charles E. Morris, a carpenter, of 199 Jackson street, husband of the plaintiff in the slander charge of Mrs. Morris against Lillie Bussa, found himself in the uncomfortable position of being "betwixt two fires" before the hearing of the case had progressed very far in the court Thursday morning.

Garbed as all of the principals and witnesses were in their statements at the outset, the testimony, as the case drew to a close, assumed a different character and showed that not only had Mrs. Morris been under suspicion, but that her husband and Mrs. Bussa as well, though all good naturedly agreed that there was no foundation for said suspicions, and that it was only a case of Mrs. Morris referring to the husband of her next door neighbor because she had accused her (Mrs. Morris) of meeting another man down town. Mrs. Morris had related a chance meeting with Mrs. Bussa while down street shopping. Mrs. Bussa, she said, asked her if she was ready to return home and she told her she had some more purchases to make. Later, upon going home, Mr. Morris told her that Mrs. Bussa had just left.

Morris was quick to explain to the court that Mrs. Bussa was only a neighbor and occasionally came to his home, whether his wife was there or not, to borrow the papers, etc., and one time had him sign an application blank for her. He said she was a good woman in all that was implied, save her mouth, which she keeps going all of the time, he said. Mrs. Bussa's husband, Wheeler Bussa, when he later took the stand, declared one had about as long a tongue as the other. It appeared from the evidence that both families had been on the friendliest of terms up until a few months ago, and although the two women had "fallen out" and had a couple of verbal clashes, their husbands continued to remain on good terms, having mutually agreed to allow the women to settle their own differences.

Morris told the court that even though the other woman had talked about his wife, he paid no attention to it so long as it was confined to their immediate neighborhood, but when he learned the talk had been carried into the shoe factory he thought it time to call a halt. The particular witness upon whom he relied to prove this, failed to appear, though summoned, Morris declaring that she was afraid of Mrs. Bussa.

The mayor was about to continue the case over until Friday in order to hear the testimony of the important witness referred to, when a sudden remark by Mrs. Morris, that all she asked was that Mrs. Bussa promise to quit talking about her in the future and tell those to whom she had talked about her that all was false, caused him to permit her to sit in judgment in her own case. Mrs. Bussa declared that aside from seeing she had seen Mrs. Morris talking to a man named Pendleton at Third and Chillicothe streets, and suddenly disappear after walking up Fourth street with him, the husband never assailed or questioned her good name or character. The case was dismissed, the two husbands shaking hands, but the women failed to follow their example, though urged to do so by the men. Mrs. Bussa appeared willing, but not so with the other. Mrs. Bussa even felt that all owed it to the mayor to treat him to ice cream for the way he had disposed of the case.

MAY EXPECT MORE DEVELOPMENTS IN JUVENILE SENSATION

Probate Judge Beatty received an anonymous letter Thursday morning from one who claimed to be a resident near Sixth and Findlay streets, complimenting him on the stand he had taken relative to the gang of juveniles which has been the source of much complaint from residents of that section.

The letter writer advises Judge Beatty that if he continues the investigation he will strike "pay dirt."

In conclusion the writer advises the court and the city police to "stand up for a curfew ordinance" if they want to protect the juveniles of this city.

Judge Beatty stated that he had nothing to give out further than was in The Times Wednesday evening, but he intimated that some interesting developments are likely to follow within the next few days. He says that people in that vicinity have noted a decided improvement in their neighborhood since the matter was brought to the attention of the authorities.

Woman Loses Mind, Had To Be Tied Down

Probate Judge Beatty received word Thursday that Chloe Bennett, 31, who resides at the home of David Deemer, in Madison township, had gone violently insane suddenly this morning, and that she had to be tied down to prevent her from doing personal injury to herself and those about her.

Deputy Sheriff Rome Arthur, was detailed to bring her to this city for an inquest, and he left early this afternoon to take her in custody.

over to our house. After we have done this the boy that I was invited for takes me somewhere, and we are friends. But it isn't like having a boy phone and say that he would like to call on me. Why is it that other girls have to get boys for me? I seem to be liked after they know me, because they take me places and call on me almost always after we have spent an evening or two together. Sometimes a boy will ask especially that the girl should get on. Is there anything I can do to make boys like me without the help of any one else?

DELIA.

Perhaps you have a reserved manner that makes boys afraid to ask you. If you have, keep it, because people will have more respect for you than as though you made friends with every one. The very fact that boys like you when you are acquainted ought to be enough to please you. It proves that you are attractive.

DELLIE.

Dear Miss Wise.—I would like to clean a white ostrich feather pompadour at home. Can you tell me how to do it successfully?

CALIE.

Take a half bowl of flour and a half bowl of gasoline and dip the pompadour into this paste and brush lightly with the hands. Then shake it out until it is fluffy again. If not clean the first time, repeat the operation.

Dear Miss Wise.—Would you please answer the following questions? My husband's sister, who is a stranger in our town, is coming to visit us. I have a brother married living in the same town as we do. My brother is acquainted with my husband's sister, but his wife is not. Is it proper for us to take her to their home to see them or is it their place to come to our home to see her?

My girl friends invite me over in the evening when there are going to be a couple of boys there and then I invite them to our house. After we have done this the boy that I was invited for takes me somewhere, and we are friends. But it isn't like having a boy phone and say that he would like to call on me. Why is it that other girls have to get boys for me? I seem to be liked after they know me, because they take me places and call on me almost always after we have spent an evening or two together. Sometimes a boy will ask especially that the girl should get on. Is there anything I can do to make boys like me without the help of any one else?

DELLIE.

Perhaps you have a reserved manner that makes boys afraid to ask you. If you have, keep it, because people will have more respect for you than as though you made friends with every one. The very fact that boys like you when you are acquainted ought to be enough to please you. It proves that you are attractive.

Dear Miss Wise.—I would like to clean a white ostrich feather pompadour at home. Can you tell me how to do it successfully?

CALIE.

Take a half bowl of flour and a half bowl of gasoline and dip the pompadour into this paste and brush lightly with the hands. Then shake it out until it is fluffy again. If not clean the first time, repeat the operation.

Dear Miss Wise.—Would you please answer the following questions? My husband's sister, who is a stranger in our town, is coming to visit us. I have a brother married living in the same town as we do. TOOK CIRCUITOUS ROUTE TO IRONTON ONLY TO LEARN THAT HE HAD REALLY TRAVELED AS FAR AS NEW BOSTON

Louis Wilmoth, a Columbus motorcycleist, was one of the maddest men in Scioto county Wednesday evening. He reached the city from Columbus about three o'clock and asked the way to Ironton. Some one pointed out a direction and Wilmoth followed. The next time he stopped he was on the Scioto Trail near Feurt hill. This time he was directed over Feurt hill, his third stop being some place on Long Run. This time his informant pointed out the road to New Boston but did not mention the name of the village. About six o'clock Wilmoth arrived at the York and Hans saloon in the village and wanted to know if he was in Ironton. He was the most surprised man in the state when informed he was only two miles from Portsmouth. He stayed in the village over night and Thursday morning resumed his trip and if he did not take a side road is in Ironton by this time.

NEW BOSTON REVIVAL

Harry Edwards was greeted by a nicely packed house at the third revival meeting scheduled for this week at the Christian church. Preceded by a "live-wire" song service, under the direction of "Eddy" Edwards, there was not a dull moment throughout the service. "Why Pray" was the subject for the evening, and Edwards took his audience with him to the jungles of Africa and to the coral strands of India in describing the desire of every man, benton and pagan, to worship and pray to some god.

At the close of the services many pledged to work for the success of this revival. The subject for tonight is: "The Other Fellow." Special song service begins at 7 prompt. The choir members are requested to be in their places by 6:50. Please bring red books.

CARRY STOMACH JOY IN YOUR VEST POCKET

Wurster Bros. Have Such Faith In This Dyspepsia Remedy That They Guarantee It.

One of the greatest successes in the sale of medicine has been achieved by Mi-on-a, the standard dyspepsia remedy, and its sale is increasing so rapidly that Wurster Bros., the popular druggists, have hard work to keep a stock on hand. It is very popular with bankers, ministers, lawyers and others whose business or profession keeps them closely confined, while these who have brought on indigestion through irregular eating, worry, or other causes, have found relief in this reliable remedy.

Mi-on-a comes in tablet form and is sold in a metal box especially designed for convenience in carrying the medicine in the pocket or purse. It is pleasant to take, gives quick relief and should help any case no matter of how long a standing. Wurster Bros. guarantee a refund of the money if it should not prove entirely satisfactory. No other dyspepsia medicine ever had a large enough percentage of cures so that it could be sold in this manner. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

There is no time like the present to do a thing that ought to be done. If any one has indigestion today is the best time to begin curing it.

TWO MINORS ARRESTED

Two minors were before Mayor Frick in police court Thursday, one giving the name of Ruby Smith, charged with unlawfully entering a saloon, and another by the name of James Holland, but who said his right name was Rhoden, for drunkenness.

Smith claimed he was 21 years of age, saying he was born in 1894, but Chief Allen informed the court that the boy's mother said he was not yet of age. Officer Beaumont arrested Smith as he emerged from the Gay corner cafe Wednesday evening with a half pint of whiskey. The case was continued owing to the mother's failure to appear.

Rhoden, who said he lived on High street, and that he was 17 years of age, claimed to have purchased his supply of liquor from a white man on Eleventh street. Officer Harding found the boy in an intoxicated condition and wandering about the West End Thursday morning about 1:30. He was minus his hat and coat, which Officer Beaumont later found in an alley near Gay and Gallia streets. The court deferred action pending an investigation to be made by Chief Allen of the boy's story.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

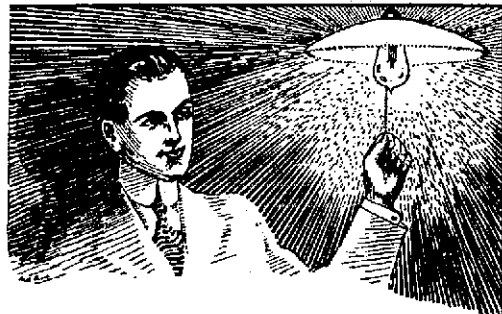

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Let There Be Light!

THE days or rather with more exact speaking, the nights are at hand and will be here for several months, when we must all abide closer in the home. The light and other necessities and comforts that the sun withdraws from us for the time being must be substituted by artificial devices, in so far as conditions and our means will allow.

This brings distinctly to our minds that the Society for Electrical Development, whose motto is Service, Safety, Economy and Efficiency has set aside the period of from November 29th to December 4th and called it "Electrical Prosperity Week." The main idea is, that just before that period manufacturers and sellers of electric service and dealers in electrical needs and conveniences shall exploit their wares and give householders wider information of what is offered to their service. We are going to enumerate several of these here, give a presentation of them in white and black. Just for the moment, however, we will principally confine ourselves to their necessity and service, the other points we may have something to say about later on.

FIRST AND FOREMOST

As darkness descends so early in the evening and leaves so late in the morning, the first essential requirement is light. For this purpose we would recommend the Mazda lamp, running anywhere from 25 to 60 candle power, according to the size of the room and the number of lamps in the chandelier. This particular kind of lamp gives a clear, soft, steady light and is of unusual endurance. You should bear in mind there is certain economy in the size of lamps, that is it will take less current to run one sixty than two twenty-fives. There is also saving to be made in burning the lamps no longer than they are actually needed and no more of those in a room than are required. It isn't the least trouble in the world to switch them on and off, just a mere raising of the arm.

A PORTABLE LAMP

Considering its cost, we don't know of anything much more serviceable and desirable than a portable electric lamp. Sometimes, in fact, it is more serviceable and more direct light than can be had from the chandelier, no matter how otherwise sufficient. You may want to do some particular work on a sewing machine, rummage in a bureau drawer for some small article. Here the portable lamp comes into altogether satisfactory play. There isn't any danger of a fire from its falling over, it doesn't grease and muss up things, it needs no filling with oil and trimming up of wicks, you can use it anywhere and any time you need it. It is always ready and can be put away without precaution, ever to be responsive at once when it is again needed.

A FINE CONVENIENCE

In writing at night one is often annoyed by the light casting a shadow in front of the hand and making it trying to see the lines and distances. The finest way to avoid this is to have a lamp attached to the secretary or desk. It sets above and ahead of the paper, or book in which the writing is to be done and throws the shadows back from the fingers and under the hands, thus making writing at night as convenient as in the day time.

A HELP TO THE EYES

Another great convenience, a great help, in fact, is the table lamp, which can set anywhere desired. And here we offer this simple direction for the care of the eyes, which will be found of vast benefit, it always carefully persisted in—have the light fall over left shoulder, never let it come for any length of time from in front of you, especially when reading. With either table or chandelier light you can always sit so as to have the light come from behind you and over your left shoulder and be ever mindful to have it do so.

The European War and the Gloves You Wear

You may ask: "Where the connection?" But the answer is easy. By far the largest percentage of kid gloves, and all the Chamoisette gloves come from Europe. Ever since the war began, the glove importers have been warning the retailers to the effect that if the war did not cease there would very soon be such a shortage of kid and Chamoisette gloves as the United States had never seen. This embarrassing position, for the merchant, has been put off by the ingenuity of the importers who have gotten special permits from different nations permitting them to import their stocks, and in some cases by smuggling them out of the countries in which they were made and then shipped clandestinely by some small, neutral vessel. In this way the glove stocks throughout the country have been replenished from time to time. But now the problem to face is the curtailed production. Most of the best glove makers are now fighting and the factories are only able to turn out about twenty-five percent of their normal output, and often the qualities are not up to the past standards while costs are increasing.

The largest dealer in fabric gloves in this country has not been able to import a single pair of Chamoisette gloves, and we are still selling them. When our present stocks are exhausted we feel that it will be next to impossible to secure more.

At present we are filling practically all the demands made upon us for gloves, both kid and Chamoisette, but how long we can continue is a question. Our advice is to buy what gloves you want, early and also purchase Christmas gloves as soon as possible.

With but one exception, in spite of the fact that gloves are much higher in price, we have maintained our old selling prices. The kid gloves that we have always sold for $1.00 are now $1.10. All other gloves remain at the same prices. Not all the stores can say as much.

GUN PLAY ACT WAS COSTLY TO THOS. JONES

Thomas Jones, colored, who was arrested on complaint of Bartender Chris Nichols for making a gun-play at Marshall's saloon, corner of Thirteenth and Railroad streets, following an argument with another man, Wednesday evening, was found guilty and as he waived the right of a jury trial, was fined $200 and costs Thursday, in default of which he will be sent to the workhouse. Jones claimed he discovered his watch gone and accused another of taking it, but denied that he had had a gun. No weapon was found by the arresting officer, but a half dozen witnesses testified to having seen Jones flourish a revolver after he was ejected from the saloon. The man with whom Jones had the trouble escaped on a passing freight train, Nichols said.

Joseph Flemings claimed the gun Officer Riding found on him had been in his possession but a few minutes and that he was on his way home at the time, a friend having just cleaned it for him. It was unloaded. The mayor reserved judgment pending an investigation of the youth's story.

Jesse Beals, a cripple, who was arrested for begging on the streets, was banished to Kentucky, while James Malone, a tramp umbrella vender, charged with drunkenness, was denied that same privilege after he had asked for it and instead was ordered put to work on the streets.

Internal Dissension At Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 11.—Internal dissension has again broken out in the ranks of the Michigan football team, and as a result Benton the veteran end, will not be in the line-up against Pennsylvania on Saturday.

The Varsity flanker did not play his usual game against the Cornellians last week, and when the Wolverine coach called him down between halves Benton refused to return to the field for the second half, turning in his suit at the clubhouse.

This is but the outcropping of bad feeling which has existed within the team all season.

causing the withdrawal of Eberwein from the squad last week, after a similar altercation with Coach Yost. The lack of co-operation between coach and men, has been apparent all season, and the failure to work in harmony has been responsible for the poor showing made by the Wolverines this fall.

ARMY AND NAVY ROUNDING INTO SHAPE FOR GAME ON TURKEY DAY

Both the Army and Navy elevens after a disappointing start are rapidly reaching a higher standard. The Middies especially are coming fast and there's every reason to believe the West Point-Annapolis game on the Polo grounds November 27 will be just as bitterly contested as all previous Army-Navy gridiron battles.

The Cadets and Middies both lost through graduation a number of stars. The loss of Pritchard and Merrillat, the wonderful forward-passing combination that defeated the sailors two years, was a severe blow to the Cadets. The new material was promising, but very green, and coaches were undecided for some time about making varsity selections.

It was the uncertainty of coaches and the slow development of the eleven that was mainly responsible for Colgate's victory over West Point. The same trouble prevented the Middies from winning a game early in the season.

The Army coaches have practically solved their problem by playing Oliphant, a former Purdue star, at quarterback.

Columbus, Nov. 11.—Copies of Ohio's first uniform traffic code are now ready for distribution by the state highway department. The code will become effective on December 5. It is authorized by the Cass road law enacted by the legislature this year and has been prepared by Clinton Cowen, state highway commissioner.

The code provides rules for all vehicles and conveyances, except railroad trains, street cars and baby carriages and will take the place of hundreds of different city and village traffic ordinances.

"Tourists no longer need to carry traffic regulations of every city in the state in their pocket," says Cowen. "Motorists can journey from one end of the state to the other without memorizing all the village ordinances and without fear of arrest by county constables, provided they know the code."

Here are some of the new rules: No motor vehicle shall operate on a road at a greater speed than eight miles an hour in the business sections of a city; 15 miles an hour in other parts of a city; and 20 miles an hour on country roads.

Muffler cutouts shall not be used between 8 p. m., and 6 a. m., within 100 yards of any residence or within any distance wherein household residents might be disturbed.

All motor vehicles between 30 minutes after sunset and 30 minutes before sunrise, two white lights in front of sufficient power to be visible 200 feet away, a red tail light and white tail light illuminating the auto number.

Bright lights on any vehicle or street car must be dimmed or controlled while approaching other vehicles so as to protect from direct glare.

Unnecessary smoke from motors is forbidden. Vehicles must stop to permit the loading or unloading of street cars. Turn to the right in passing coming vehicles. Pass vehicles in front on the left. Motorists in front shall signal by stretching out the arm horizontally on turning or checking their speed in highways or city streets. Intoxicated persons are forbidden to operate autos, motor trucks, or motorcycles. No one can steal a ride unless drivers are willing.

It develops that the visit of Al Kiedaich, cousin of the Wurster brothers, to Chillicothe Tuesday, was for the purpose of securing a manufacturing plant of that city for his own town of Keokuk, Iowa. Mr. Kiedaich is at the head of an industrial organization that lands new concerns for Keokuk whenever the opportunity presents itself, and largely through its efforts it has become one of the best cities in the Middle West.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay gray! Here's a simple recipe that anybody can apply with a hair brush.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, scaly, itchy scalp and falling hair. A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

You—Or No One Else—can be bald. Yet that is what will happen if your hair does not stop falling out. 93% REXALL Hair Tonic in our opinion is the best hair tonic on the market. Sold only by us—50 cents. Wurster Bros.

P. H. S. Ready For Whistle

The largest crowd that ever attended a football game is expected to fill the bleachers and grand-stand at Millbrook park Saturday when Portsmouth high school warriors meet their bitterest rival, Ironton high school. P. H. S. and I. H. S. at Ironton last Saturday was the magnet that drew 1000 fans to Beechwood, and more should turn out to see the game here next Saturday.

Coach Hart will place against

Ironton the strongest lineup P. H. S. has had on the field this year. Every regular player will be in the game and the substitute list will not be changed on account of ineligible players.

P. H. S. made a splendid showing against the strong Ironton team last Saturday with a new backfield and several substitute line players. If P. H. S. does not win by a large score a number of fans along with Coach Hart and the faculty members will be greatly disappointed.

Captain Duwell and his warriors are practicing hard every afternoon. Wilson will be back in the game with Shoemaker and Wagner as side partners. Captain Duwell will have the following players around him when the whistle blows Saturday for the starting of the royal battle, Quinn, Nutter, Coleman, Brandel, Lewis, Williams, Morris, Wagner, Shoemaker and Wilson.

Injuries Will Keep Williams Out Game

"Gravy" Williams of this city will not be in the Michigan-U of P game Saturday on account of injuries suffered in last Saturday's game with Dartmouth. Of local interest the Philadelphia Inquirer says:

With the absence from the lineup of Harry Ross and "Gravy" Williams on account of injuries, the Board of Coaches of the University of Pennsylvania football team had a new combination working out on Franklin Field yesterday afternoon, in preparation for the coming game with the University of Michigan.

Harry Ross and Gravy Williams were the only men who participated in the game against Dartmouth who were in any way injured. Both men are troubled with injuries to their knees and are far from being in good physical condition and therefore will be given a good rest.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Captain T. L. Huston, one of the owners of the New York American league club, plans to construct the new home of his club along the lines of the Chicago American's plant, he said today. Ironton Students To Witness Game

The student body of the High school is making great preparations for the Saturday game at Portsmouth and expect to take a large number to the River City in machines. Last week the P. H. S. sent up a big delegation to see the game, despite the fact that they expected to be beaten, and Saturday the Ironton students, who are confident of victory, will go down to the River City "en masse." The team is spending the week in practice that is as hard as the practice of last week, and all the boys will be in good shape for the game. The team is being drilled in the breaking up of the passes that Portsmouth is known to have.

Results Saturday May Affect State

Football interest at Ohio State University is divided between the results of the State-Oberlin game and the outcome of the Western conference contests. While playing a nonconference team, Ohio State's position in the Western cycle is very liable to change.

A defeat of Wisconsin by the champion Illinois outfit would mean third place for the Buckeyes. On the other hand, if either Minnesota or Illinois are walloped, the Scarlet and Gray will be tied for that place, as far as won and lost games are concerned. The Illini have the advantage over the Badgers in that they are playing on their own home grounds. This, with the added fact that the famed Pogue will be in the game and that Galvin, the Wisconsin fullback, has left the team.

At Minneapolis the undefeated Chicago aggregation meet the Gophers. Minneapolis has a win over Iowa and a tie with Illinois to her credit, and should fight at least par with the Maroons. The other Western conference game is the Indiana-Northeastern set at Bloomington.

Thin Folks Who Want to Get Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Most thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are, when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, much of the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can probably best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a careful combination of six splendid assimilative agents. Taken with meals they mix with the food to turn the sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by The Fisher & Streich Pharmacy and other druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

BANNON FOR DAUGHERTY FOR SENATORIAL PLUM

Columbus, Ohio, November 11.—Former Congressman Henry T. Bannon, of Portsmouth, accompanied by Hon. Roy McElhane, a political lieutenant, has been in Columbus the past two days, in consultation with Republican political leaders in regard to the situation. Mr. Bannon, who served in congress with former Senator Theodore Burton, is enthusiastically in favor of the latter for president, as he is in favor of the renomination of Governor Willis.

Mr. Bannon has also announced himself as being in favor of the candidacy of Hon. Harry M. Daugherty for United States senator. He gave this interview to a Times reporter:

"I am for Daugherty for senator because the office is due him. For years he has borne the battle in the midst of hostile criticism. In the campaign of 1912 he preserved the party in Ohio and stood firm when others faltered. I hope every Republican in Scioto county will rally to his support."

Change Made In Width Of Street Delays Paving Of Linden Avenue

The board of control expects to submit to city council next Wednesday evening the proposed change in plans which has caused the holding up of the Linden avenue improvement.

Bids for the contract of paving Linden avenue had been opened, and all property owners served when the board was asked to make it a 40 ft. street instead of 30 ft., as originally provided for. The board could have gone ahead with the work on the original plan but felt inasmuch as the property owners were paying for the improvement they were entitled to get what they wanted and so rather than take advantage of them, concluded to learn city council's wishes in the matter.

The property owners, it is understood, desire their street to be improved along lines similar as that of Gallia pike. The improvement of Armstrong Place is also being held up pending a decision in the Linden avenue job.

William Gergens, director of public service, announced Thursday morning that he would insist upon the S. Monroe & Son company going ahead and completing the Mabert Road improvement this year. He said the contractors were showing a tendency to lay down on the job after having put in concrete and curbing for one square.

A WOMAN SUFFERED AND WAS HEALED, PORTSMOUTH MARVELS

As regards the human race, sympathy for suffering womanhood is universal.

All Portsmouth is marveling at the wonderful results that are being obtained by the use of the "Master Medicine."

Proportionately, one out of every eighteen residents of the Peerless City are taking the celebrated Tanlac treatment. The agent for this medicine states, that out of this, which has been the largest sale of a proprietary medicine in the history of the drug trade, that the results are most satisfactory, as reported by the users, who seem more than glad of the opportunity to sing its praises.

"Tanlac is a blessing to humanity," says Mrs. Surrilla Janney, of Dixon, W. Va., who is visiting relatives in Portsmouth. "I have never before taken medicine that renewed my vitality as this medicine has done. From stomach and liver trouble, I had lost weight and strength, was short of breath, and had practically no appetite. After taking one bottle of Tanlac I almost feel young again."

It is a most conclusive fact that catarrhal troubles are the most prevalent of maladies in this section of the state of Ohio. Catarrh of the head, in the majority of instances extends to the stomach and intestines, causing dyspepsia, and chronic constipation.

Nervous headache, loss of weight and appetite, pains in the pit of the stomach and kidney region, a feeling of despondency and tendency to easily take cold, are invariably symptoms of the existence of catarrh.

Tanlac is aptly called the "Master Medicine." It is an extract of roots, herbs and flowers, gathered from the four corners of the earth, and compounded into this remarkable remedy by the famous German chemist, Trim-bach.

Tanlac is most effective in cases of stomach, liver, kidney, and intestinal troubles, catarrh of the mucous membranes and rheumatism.

Tanlac is now sold in Portsmouth by The Fisher & Streich Pharmacy, corner of Sixth and Chillicothe Sts., where representatives are courteously explaining Tanlac.

Pyorrhea—the disease nearly everybody has

No matter how sound your teeth may seem to be, no matter how you may scoff at the idea of your having this disease, it is a positive fact that the germ which causes it is working now in your teeth.

The appalling discovery of this fact—that the germ which causes pyorrhea is one which inhabits every human mouth—was made over a year ago. Since then dentists have been urging everyone to take special precautions in their daily toilet to prevent this disease from developing in its acute form of bleeding gums, tenderness in chewing and loose teeth.

To meet the need for such a daily treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Senreco Tooth Paste.

Senreco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease.

Senreco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesome clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Senreco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. Get Senreco at your druggists today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Senreco Remedies Co., 505 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

HER PHOTOGRAPH WINS A POSITION

Here is a new face in moving pictures. Its owner, Miss Marguerite Gale, owes her position to the fact that the director of a big film company saw her picture in a photographer's display window. He was so struck by it that he hunted up Miss Gale and induced her to try her luck in the silent drama. She will make her first appearance in "How Molly Made Good," the novel six-reel film in which twelve of America's most famous stars are featured.

ITALY IS SUSPICIOUS OF GREECE

Rome, Nov. 11. Via Paris.—The benevolent sentiments toward the entente allies expressed by Greece have been received with skepticism in Italian political circles. "The Messaggero" says that uncensored news of events in Greece proves that it has been in fear of naval action by the allies and that has held back King Constantine and his government up to the present time.

"We have every reason to suspect," says the newspaper, "that Greece is awaiting an opportune movement to throw in her lot with the Central empire. The quadruple entente has paid dearly for its mistakes in the past and it ought not to let itself be deceived again."

SPENT STORM HITS CITY

13 KILLED; SCORES ARE INJURED; PROPERTY LOSS IS HEAVY

Kansas City, Nov. 11.—Property damage amounting into hundreds of thousands of dollars, thirteen persons killed and scores injured, was the result of the violent storm which swept Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa last night, according to reports received here today.

Great Bend, Kansas, was the heaviest sufferer. A tornado struck the town, killed twelve persons, injured a hundred or more and wrecked many buildings. The town was plunged into darkness and a drenching rain followed. Property damage there was estimated at $500,000.

Holisington and Clifton, towns near Great Bend, felt the effects of the storm but suffered no serious damage, according to late reports. Considerable damage was done, however, in the country in the vicinity of these towns.

At Derby, Kansas, 100 miles southeast of Great Bend, one man was killed and seven persons were injured by the tornado that struck there a few hours after sweeping Great Bend.

Paris, Nov. 11.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Athens says: "The newspaper Kairoi says it has received assurances from a reliable source that British torpedo boat destroyers captured a German submarine in Greek waters last week, taking the crew prisoner. The submarine with its engine damaged, was caught between Crete and Cythera and towed into Moudros."

the Arkansas river. From here the big funnel-shaped cloud jumped to the water and electric light plants and then to a group of mills, destroying three, and with them wrecking the depot of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad.

From there a path several blocks wide and three quarters of a mile long was cut through the south residence district. When the electric light plant was struck, the city was thrown into darkness which with the blinding down-pour of rain that followed, added to the confusion. Fires broke out in many places, but were soon extinguished by the drenching rain.

REPORT 27 AMERICANS AMONG THE MISSING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—The state department received a cablegram from American Consul White at Naples today saying that the "Societa Italia" says 347 passengers and crew of the Ancona are reported as saved out of 496 and that the steamship officials believe that more will be reported saved. The department also received a message from Ambassador Pigo giving some brief details.

London, Nov. 11.—The Italian steamer Ancona was reported without warning, according to information from survivors landed at Malta by the Reuter correspondent and cabled here. The Austrian submarine which overhauled her after a long, stern chase gave the commander a brief respite to permit the removal of passengers, but the indescribable panic which began among the immigrants on board as soon as the underwater craft was sighted was responsible for the loss of many lives. In a mad rush for safety, men, women and children overwhelmed the boats, several of which were overturned before they could be lowered. Many of the occupants fell into the sea and were drowned.

Passengers agree, the correspondent says that shots fired around the steamer by the submarine, apparently to hasten the loading of the boats, added to the panic.

The Reuter despatch which contains the first connected story of the sinking of the Ancona Monday afternoon, twenty hours after she had left Messina, Sicily, follows:

"We left Naples with a fairly large number of passengers intending to sail direct to New York, but soon after leaving port received a wireless message directing us to stop at Messina for more passengers and cargo. The people aboard were mostly Greeks and Italians with large families on their way to the United States to settle there. The majority, therefore were women and children."

HALF MILLION DOLLAR FIRE AT TRENTON, N. J.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 11.—Fire that started early today and burned fiercely for more than 2 hours, completely destroyed one of the rope shops of the John A. Roebling Sons Co., causing a loss estimated at half a million dollars.

A row of frame buildings near the burned structure, caught fire a number of times and was in danger of destruction. The occupants of these houses were compelled to move out, many of them wearing only their night clothing.

The rope mill is about 100 feet wide and 700 feet long. The fire originated in the Elmer street end of the building and because of its inflammable construction, the entire place was soon in flames. The upper floors were of wood and were saturated with oil from machinery.

Wire rope, said to be used almost exclusively for domestic purposes, was being manufactured in this shop.

There were rumors that the fire was of incendiary origin due to the belief that the company was engaged in making material for war purposes. Officials of the concern, however, do not believe this, stating that because the plant is working night and day there would have been little opportunity for setting the place on fire.

When the blaze was first discovered some of the employees attempted to extinguish it, but were not successful. There were about 850 men employed in the shop.

The building in which it was reported the Roeblings are planning to make gun barrels for war purposes is located three or four blocks from the scene of today's fire. It was at first reported that this structure had been partly destroyed but this proved to be untrue.

The Roebling plant in recent years has had several serious fires, the most serious of which occurred last January, entailing a loss of $1,500,000. In addition to manufacturing gun barrels, the concern is also said to have large orders for chains and barbed wire for European governments.

Steubenville, O., Nov. 11.—B. M. Weir, vice president of the Phillips Sheet and Tinplate company has announced that the strip steel plant of the company in Weirton, Ohio, would be enlarged. He said the addition will cost about $1,000,000 and that 300 additional men would be employed. Announcement was also made that work will begin soon on our new mills costing about $800,000 and giving employment to 400 men. The company also has plants in Steubenville and Clarksburg.

Internal Dissension At Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 11.—Internal dissension has again broken out in the ranks of the Michigan football team, and as a result Benton the veteran end, will not be in the line-up against Pennsylvania on Saturday.

The Varsity flanker did not play his usual game against the Cornellians last week, and when the Wolverine coach called him down between halves Benton refused to return to the field for the second half, turning in his suit at the clubhouse.

This is but the outcropping of bad feeling which has existed within the team all season, causing the withdrawal of Eberwein from the squad last week, after a similar altercation with Coach Yost.

The lack of co-operation between coach and men, has been apparent all season, and the failure to work in harmony has been responsible for the poor showing made by the Wolverines this fall.

ARMY AND NAVY ROUNDING INTO SHAPE FOR GAME ON TURKEY DAY

Both the Army and Navy elevens after a disappointing start are rapidly reaching a higher standard. The Middies especially are coming fast and there's every reason to believe the West Point-Annapolis game on the Polo grounds November 27 will be just as bitterly contested as all previous Army-Navy gridiron battles.

The Cadets and Middies, both lost through graduation a number of stars. The loss of Pritchard and Merillat, the wonderful forward-passing combination that defeated the sailors two years, was a severe blow to the Cadets. The new material was promising, but very green, and coaches were undecided for some time about making varsity selections.

It was the uncertainty of coaches and the slow development of the eleven that was mainly responsible for Colgate's victory over West Point. The same trouble prevented the Middies from winning a game early in the season.

The Army coaches have practically solved their problem by playing Oliphant, a former Purdue star, at quarterback.

Oliphant.

Ironton Students To Witness Game

The student body of the High school is making great preparations for the Saturday game at Portsmouth. The team is spending the week in practice that is as hard as the practice of last week, and all the boys will be in good shape for the game. The team is being drilled in the breaking up of the passes that Portsmouth is known to have.

Results Saturday May Affect State

Football interest at Ohio State University is divided between the results of the State-Oberlin game and the outcome of the Western conference contests. While playing a nonconference team, Ohio State's position in the Western cycle is very little to change.

A defeat of Wisconsin by the champion Illinois outfit would mean third place for the Buckeyes. On the other hand, if either Minnesota or Illinois are walloped, the Scarlet and Gray will be tied for that place.

At Minneapolis the undefeated Chicago aggregation meets the Gophers. Minnesota has a win over Iowa and a tie with Illinois to her credit, and should fight at least par with the Maroons. The other Western conference game is the Indiana-Northwestern set at Bloomington.

TEAM LOST $35,000

Kansas City, Nov. 11.—The forfeiture of the Kansas City franchise in the Federal League, at the meeting of the league in Indianapolis carried with it no surprise as far as Kansas City stockholders were concerned. According to a report made at a stockholders' meeting here Oct. 25, the club showed a loss of $35,000 on the season's operations.

Ohio Traffic Code To Take Place Of City Ordinances

Columbus, Nov. 11.—Copies of Ohio's first uniform traffic code are now ready for distribution by the state highway department. The code will become effective on December 5. It is authorized by the Cass road law enacted by the legislature this year and has been prepared by Clinton Cowen, state highway commissioner.

The code provides rules for all vehicles and conveyances, except railroad trains, street cars and baby carriages and will take the place of hundreds of different city and village traffic ordinances.

"Tourists no longer need to carry traffic regulations of every city in the state in their pocket," says Cowen. "Motorists can journey from one end of the state to the other without memorizing all the village ordinances, and without fear of arrest by county constables, provided they know the code."

Here are some of the new rules: No motor vehicle shall operate on a road at a greater speed than eight miles an hour in the business sections of a city, 15 miles an hour in other parts of a city, and 20 miles an hour on country roads.

Muffler cutouts shall not be used between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m., within 100 yards of any residence or within any distance wherein household residents might be disturbed.

All motor vehicles between 30 minutes after sunset and 30 minutes before sunrise, two white lights in front of sufficient power to be visible 200 feet away, a red tail light and white tail light illuminating the auto number.

Bright lights on any vehicle or street car must be dimmed or controlled while approaching other vehicles so as to protect from direct glare.

Unnecessary smoke from motors is forbidden. Vehicles must stop to permit the loading or unloading of street cars. Turn to the right in passing coming vehicles. Pass vehicles in front on the left. Motorists in front shall signal by stretching out the arm horizontally on turning or checking their speed in highways or city streets. Intoxicated persons are forbidden to operate autos, motor trucks, or motorcycles. No one can steal a ride unless drivers are willing.

GOES AFTER PLANT

It develops that the visit of Al Kiedaisch, cousin of the Worster brothers, to Chillicothe Tuesday, was for the purpose of securing a manufacturing plant of that city for his own town of Keokuk, Iowa. Mr. Kiedaisch is at the head of an industrial organization that lures new concerns for Keokuk whenever the opportunity presents itself, and largely through its efforts it has become one of the best cities in the Middle West.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay gray! Here's a simple recipe that anybody can apply with a hair brush.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, flaking, itchy scalp and falling hair. A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

Injuries Will Keep Williams Out Game

"Gravy" Williams of this city will not be in the Michigan-U of P game Saturday on account of injuries suffered in last Saturday's game with Dartmouth. Of local interest the Philadelphia Inquirer says:

With the absence from the line-up of Harry Ross and "Gravy" Williams on account of injuries, the Board of Coaches of the University of Pennsylvania football team had a new combination working out on Franklin Field yesterday afternoon, in preparation for the coming game with the University of Michigan.

Harry Ross and Gravy Williams were the only men who participated in the game against Dartmouth who were in any way injured. Both men are troubled with injuries to their knees and are far from being in good physical condition and therefore will be given a good rest.

ALL AS ONE LIVES.

The funeral of the late Reverend Father Gosselin, at Ashland, Wednesday morning, is said to have been by far the largest and most imposing ever held in the Kentucky city. In his honor every business house was closed not for a few minutes, but for the full two hours consumed in the burial service.

It may sound rather strange, in these days, when so much religious rancor is on parade, that such a striking tribute should be paid by all, regardless of creed to this humble Catholic priest, but not so in actual fact. Sift it down to its last element and the esteem of a man is not founded on what he professes, or on what we may believe, but what he practices. Father Gosselin was neither a brilliant orator, nor of unusual intellect. He was a simple, good man, who loved his fellow man, proven himself in charity, gentleness and consideration. To him every mortal was God's creature, answerable to his Creator for his conduct, and that not to be either unjustly, nor harshly judged by another mortal. He could not mold the doctrines for each, but he could grant each the right of free will and friendly consideration. So he labored diligently and loved earnestly and to him came the finest blessing a mortal can strive for a good name and the good will of his fellowman, and in death he was honored and mourned generously and sympathetically as he had striven.

A MERE AGREEMENT

A Columbus telegram informs us there was no deal on the senatorship included in the nice little talk between Senator Burton and our good young Governor, Monday, in which the former became an open candidate for president and the latter avowed himself out for re-nomination.

Certainly not; the confab was a mere gentlemen's agreement, the full scope of which is premised in the quick disavowal of Herrick and Harding that they will contest for Ohio delegation to the national convention, leaving a clear field to Burton, who is given carte blanche, which means a free hand, to hand pick his own delegates, "after full consultation with the district leaders," the mere voters not being considered of voice in the highly important matter; the instantaneous suppression of "Jack" Arnold, who has been buzzing around like a beetle and quite as harmless; and the sudden rise of the senatorial stock of Harry Daugherty, reaping all the usufruct of the play.

So far as Democrats are concerned they should be more than pleased with the arrangement. Burton is not much of a politician and he is less of a demagogue. He is made of honest and rather plain stuff and all through his congressional career, both in house and senate, he showed himself big and strong enough to be his own man. His candidacy is one that no Buckeye, no matter what his politics, need have any shame of, no matter what its eventual outcome. As for the Willis pronouncement it ought to be and will be welcomed by Democrats with exceeding great joy and the advent of Harry Daugherty will be received with only less gladness. Our good young Governor is at the end of his rope and Daugherty never won a race of consequence and never will, he's a mere exhibit of how long a bubble can float on the tempestuous seas of politics without getting burst and dissolved into impalpable gray mist.

The Hon. Ed. Jones, of Jackson, Ohio, has emerged from the pall of gloom that has enveloped him ever since he rode behind Undertaker Al Wood's snow white horses, and announces that he is not a political corpse but on the contrary is about the liveliest receptive candidate for something in the way of an office there is in Ohio. The Hon. Ed says he has been importuned by scores of Republicans to be a candidate for governor, but that out of consideration for Frank B. Willis he has decided not to oppose him. Incidentally he takes a rap at Willis for disregarding party organizations and committees in the selection of office holders. Then the Hon. Ed coyly admits that he has under consideration the advisability of throwing his hat in the ring for United States Senator but he backs away from a definite announcement. If Ed goes in for this plum he will undoubtedly make a great fight and the other contenders will find that he is no mean opponent.

And if the Hon. Ed wins we'll bet a nickel that he bars undertaker's outfits from the "welcome home" procession.

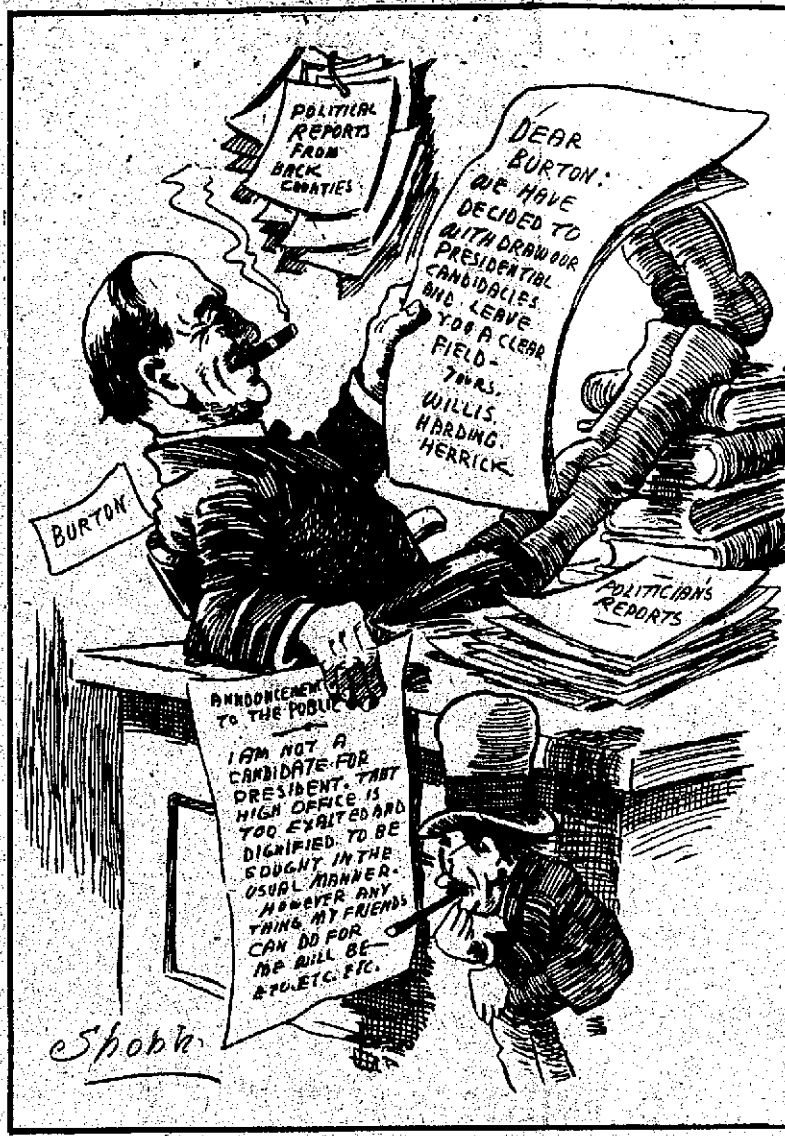

Dogs in Ohio are killing sheep valued at ten million dollars every year, the auditor of state says. It may not be as bad as that. It is noticeable that sheep killed by dogs often increase enormously in value over night, says the Gallipolis Tribune.

Yes, and the stray cows killed or injured by automobiles are in the same class. In some psychological manner the value of each and every cow that gets in the way of an auto is placed by the owner at $75, no more no less, and each cow is of the best pedigree variety. An automobile owner once told us he did not believe there was a common, ordinary cow in Ohio. And he knows too, for he had been in half-a-dozen encounters with cows.

And with the election past council still displays no overbearing desire to tuck in that jitney ordinance.

It doesn't make a bit of difference if the solidly Republican council will claim credit for extending the flood wall. The thing is to extend it.

"IN THE HANDS OF HIS FRIENDS."

STAGGERS COMPREHENSION.

According to report now given out by the federal agricultural department, the corn yield of the United States, the greatest one in experience, for the year 1915, totals over three billion bushels and is of a monetary value of better than two billion dollars.

These are figures that are beyond reality of comprehension. But some idea of their magnitude will be felt, of a truth is already being felt, in the prosperity they work out for the country. Every branch and line of industry and business is quickened by this bounteous yield and the good prices that rule for it. Particularly is its influence upon conditions apparent in the increasingly large number and quality of automobiles farmers are buying. Instead of an occasional buyer among them they are furnishing a full half of the customers, and they are not looking for the cheapest cars on the market, but are most favoring those that are regarded as, of modest price. This is to be looked upon as an indication of development far out of the ordinary, because it lifts the farmer from the reproach of the past that he ever wanted the cheapest thing he could get, and was averse to providing himself with any comforts, to say nothing of luxury. In a general way the automobile is going to be his best investment. He can find use for it that will make it valuable and it will have the effect of broadening and quickening his interest and his observation, meaning of course, it is going to make him the better farmer, and following from that, the better buyer. For what he may lag in the latter, through lack of observation, his women folks will be quick enough to make up for him and eventually the automobile will revolutionize country life, just as it has turned everything upside down in town. Of his new estate all can heartily congratulate him, because the welfare of the nation comes fundamentally from the soil and if he who digs into it and plows it up, is not heartened by the sunshine of plenty, scarce, indeed, will be the rays of fortune that will fall upon the rest.

May be it is just our way of looking at it, but as we see it this tireless and popular purveyor of events has of late been publishing much news that its German readers will readily admit is real news. Still let it be remembered that The Times spends thousands of dollars to get the news, so said to be, and not a dollar to make it.

Now it is Mr. Vills that is proving he who runs away lives to fight another day. He has right about faced and is again marching on Agua Pietra to maim and cripple, aye, perchance, kill a few more Americans, whose curiosity gets the better of discretion.

Mr. Kitchen, of North Carolina, or is it Georgia? says the kettle will not boil with any of this preparedness stew if he has got to tote in the fuel.

And now we shall see if Lord Kitchen makes good as a pinch-hitter.

WILSON AND BRYAN.

Though William Jennings Bryan left President Wilson's cabinet avowing the warmest personal friendship for him and admiration for his course, outside the manner in which our neutrality was being construed, what was then suspected, that the two were at the parting of the ways, has become more of a fixed conviction with the lapse of time—at least on the part of Mr. Bryan.

The turbulent advocacy of peace plans by the latter and the sources from which came chief approbation to him and in them a distinct note of unfriendliness to the president and now the extreme violence with which the Nebraskan opposes the moderate and tentative preparedness methods put forth from the White House, points with seeming clearness to an early situation where he will be found in fervid antagonism and opposition to Wilson generally.

Judging from his past career, nothing else was to have been expected. For the time being, at least, there can be no question that what Bryan believes he believes with all the fervor of his mind and temperament. His is not an intellect to qualify, nor a disposition to repress. Most easily he runs to both opposition and the untied and the sublimated and his consummate cleverness in yielding the former and his unsurpassed imagery in painting the latter are the salient qualities that give him leadership.

And while we may deplore his position and question the correctness of his views, there should be no quarrel with him. As a man and a citizen he is entitled to have, hold and express his opinions on all public questions, in all the sincerity that actuates him and the ability he undoubtedly possesses, and as a Democrat, it is his privilege and duty so to be coupled with his active purpose to persuade his party to a certain course, where it has not already declared what that course shall be. From his record we can safely enough assume that when his party has once duly spoken he will give his adhesion both to it and its candidate.

Sad as it is to confess, says the Cleveland Leader, there are probably people in Cleveland who would go to hear Bryan talk. Sadder still to the Leader there are thousands to go away and vote as he talks.

We agree that if the Congressional Record is to be issued this session, and it doubtless will be, the only way to make it useful is to size its pages so they will fit the pantry shelf.

Aha, we have it. That last drive against the Teutons wasn't any drive at all, only a feeler. The big drive, the only and one drive, so we are told, is going to come this winter.

France is going to spend five hundred million dollars in this country for machinery to equip and modernize her industrial plants. That sounds more like real business, and something to which none either can or will have objection.

A contemporary maintains that England is more mistress of the seas than ever. Granted that be true what is it going to profit her if Germany be suffered to lick all the land and take possession of it?

In view of the late unpleasant event we feel Roy will be justified in informing Charlie that there is no such thing as a second term courtesy to prevail with the G. O. P. in this district.

It would appear young Doc Sellards has fallen into innocuous desuetude since the election. Yet that safety directorship hangs troubling in the air.

Has any one down here laid before our good young Governor the figures showing Who's really Who in this man's town?

Our delightful friend Newt Baker must hold some misgivings these days as to the beauty and sincerity of the Mary Ann form of balloting.

Don't have any misgivings as to the fact that Count Von Bernstorff doesn't know when silence is golden.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY
O.O.M'INTYRE.

New York, Nov. 11.—Gaby is "efeller." No one seemed to reply, but he kept it up. Finally Harry Brown, of the Times, who was waiting for a luncheon engagement called the boy over. "What initials have that Mr. Rockefeller?" "Oh, no initials at all," replied the boy, "I just didn't have anything to do and thought I'd kill a little time."

Gaby also brought some trunks. The steward lost track of them somewhere in the twenties and the custom officers sent out for an adding machine. Mlle. Deslys has been singing and dancing for the soldiers in the hospitals. She calls it the "periscope fund."

The money she collected is used partly to buy periscopes for the fighting men. While talking to the news-hounds at the pier a shrill bark was heard in Gaby's big fur coat and out jumped a Mexican hairless puppy. Gaby says she is very fond of New York which of course makes it nice for the six million people who live here or hereabouts.

Down in the Waldorf corridors the other day a page boy made the rounds calling for "Mr. Rock-

Homey Croy, the humorist, gave a unique party last week at his home at Forest Hills for a group of writers and artists. The game of the evening was fan-tan and the house was appropriately bedecked in Chinese curios and hangings.

Croy was dressed in a Chinese costume and burning incense was concealed all about the house. During the evening a young reporter who was present nudged his neighbor and said:

"I smell punk."

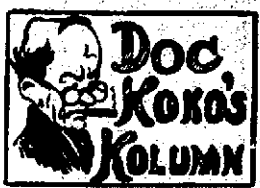

"Well, I can't say that it is anything to brag about," was the snappy rejoinder.

Charles F. Zittel is an illustrious example of what a young man can do in New York without capital—but an idea. Several years ago he was second assistant to a dramatic critic and he conceived the idea of reviewing vaudeville shows in the same style as is used in the race-track charts. It became popular instantly and the thousands of dollars worth of theatrical advertising poured into the newspaper and the originator is said to command a salary that exceeds that of any managing editor in town.

Speaking of Literature

William Dean Howells, at a dinner in Boston, said of modern American letters:

"The average popular novel shows on the novelist's part an ignorance of his trade which reminds me of a New England clerk."

"In a New England village, I entered the main street department store one afternoon and said to the clerk at the book counter:

"Let me have, please, the letters of Charles Lamb."

"Post office right across the street, Mr. Lamb," said the clerk, with a naive, briar smile.—Exchange.

Hat Parks' Dog

The New Jersey man who mired his face with small quantities of dynamite so that every time a mosquito jabbed his head into a mine it exploded, sending the mauler to kingdom come, reminds us of Hat Parks' dog. Hat owned a dog and so did his neighbor, and every day the neighbor's dog came over and bit a piece out of Hat's canine. Hat finally got tired of seeing his faithful companion leave him little by little, so one day when he saw the neighbor dog coming for his usual meal, he caught his dog and tied a stick of dynamite to his side, and the neighbor's dog, mistaking it for a good fat rib, took a healthy chew and was blown to bits. And it never hurt my dog at all!," says Hat in telling about it.—Pewamo News.

A Remarkable Discovery

"Some of the grandest discoveries of the ages," said the great scientist, sonorously, "have been the result of accidents."

"May I ask what it was?"

"Certainly," replied the fair one. "I found that by keeping a bottle of ink handy you can use a fountain pen just like any other pen—without all the trouble of filling it."—Christian Register.

CITY'S LIVE WIRES TO GATHER AT FESTAL BOARD TONIGHT

All is in readiness for the eighth annual banquet of the Business Men's Association, which will be held promptly at six o'clock this evening at "The Club" on Fourth street near Court. Members are expected to go to "The Club" at the close of the day's business.

Judges of the All Saints' church worked until a late hour Wednesday evening getting the place for the big spread, which is one of the most elaborate in the city.

Guests will be about 150 guests, who will be seated at six large tables, which have been arranged in attractive fashion in the large auditorium. The auditorium will be prettily decorated with flowers and lighting, and will present an inviting appearance. The speakers' table will be at the north end of the hall, seated at which will be the president and the board of directors, the principal speakers and guests of honor.

An enjoyable program has been arranged after the banquet has been served. President Charles Diebler, of the Association, will have charge of the opening feature, the annual election. Three directors will be chosen to succeed W. W. Anderson, Albert Harding and J. A. Bode, whose terms expire this year. These three and six others, Frank J. Baker, Alex. M. Glickner, Henry H. Winter, Albert Frazier, Louis Schless and John W. Flood, will be offered as candidates to fill the three vacancies in the directorate, each member being entitled to a vote.

The election over, President Diebler will introduce the toastmaster of the evening, Karl Zoellner, who will pilot the members and guests over a pleasant sea of oratory, and, with assistance by the principal speakers of the evening, Hon. Harry L. Gordon and J. F. Orr, of Cincinnati, and Secretary M. A. Coe, of the Association. Other members and guests will probably be called upon for a few impromptu remarks.

Music will be furnished during the evening by the Aeolian Quartette, composed of Fred Lorey, W. D. Gilliland, Watson Goddard and J. Adam Burdick.

HER PHOTOGRAPH WINS A POSITION

Miss Marguerite Gale.

Here is a new face in moving pictures. Its owner, Miss Marguerite Gale, owes her position to the fact that the director of a big film company saw her picture in a photograph's display window. He was so struck by it that he hurried up Miss Gale and induced her to try her luck in the silent drama. She will make her first appearance in "How Molly Made Good," the novel six-reel film in which twelve of America's most famous stars are featured.

Local motorists will welcome the announcement of Harold Wendelken, district supervisor of roads, that the Scioto Trail will be opened one full day sooner than was thought last week.

Mr. Wendelken informed The

All Night Jury Wrestling For Verdict In Local Damage Suit

The damage case of Levi D. York against W. F. Seymore, which has been occupying the attention of a jury in common pleas court since Tuesday, was given to the jury at five o'clock Wednesday evening. After an all night session Wednesday night the jury reported Thursday morning that it had been unable to arrive at a verdict, and retired for further deliberation.

At midnight Wednesday the jury came out of the jury room and asked Judge Stephenson for further instructions as to the law relating to certain features of the case, but the court refused to give the instructions in the absence of the attorneys for the litigants.

L. D. York, the plaintiff, is suing W. F. Seymore, the defendant for $500 damages for alleged unlawful possession of a portion of the old mill lot in the west end of the city, covering a period of six years. During the trial of the case, the attorneys delved into ancient volumes of deeds and realty transfers, going back to the time of the early Indian settlers to complete the line of title. Maps and records that had grown musty with age were reviewed by Judge Stephenson and jury during the two days' trial.

Attorneys in the case were Miller, Miller and Searl for the plaintiff and T. C. Anderson for the defendant.

Never Heard of Him.
Colonel R. H. MacKenzie, in an article in the Cornhill Magazine, recalls that Mr. Roeluck, the member for Sheffield in the fifties, used to tell the perfectly true story of his staying in a country house at the time of the death of the great Duke of Wellington. He spoke in the early morning to the gentleman, an elderly man, who was mowing the lawn. "Had news today?" "Is there, sir?" said the man. "Yes," Mr. Roeluck said, "the duke is dead." "What?" "Who says?" "The Duke of Wellington." "I'm very sorry for the gentleman," replied the man, going on with his work, "but I never heard of him."

BANNON FOR DAUGHERTY FOR SENATORIAL PLUM

Columbus, Ohio, November 11.—Former Congressman Henry T. Bannon, of Portsmouth, accompanied by Hon. Roy McElhenny, a political lieutenant, has been in Columbus the past two days, in consultation with Republican political leaders in regard to the situation. Mr. Bannon, who served in congress with former Senator Theodore Burton, is enthusiastically in favor of the latter for president, as he is in favor of the renomination of Governor Willis.

Mr. Bannon has also announced himself as being in favor of the candidacy of Hon. Harry M. Daugherty for United States senator. He gave this interview to a Times reporter.

"I am for Daugherty for senator because the office is due him. For years he has borne the battle in the midst of hostile criticism. In the campaign of 1912 he presided the party in Ohio and stood firm when others faltered. I hope every Republican in Scioto county will rally to his support."

NEW PIG IRON RATE FROM IRONTON TO PORTSMOUTH WILL BE ASKED FOR

Change Made In Width Of Street Delays Paving Of Linden Avenue

The board of control expects to submit to city council next Wednesday evening the proposed change in plans which has caused the holding up of the Linden avenue improvement.

Bids for the contract of paving Linden avenue had been opened, and all property owners served when the board was asked to make it a 40 ft. street instead of 30 ft., as originally provided for. The board could have gone ahead with the work on the original plan but felt inasmuch as the property owners were paying for the improvement they were entitled to get what they wanted and so rather than take advantage of them, concluded to learn city council's wishes in the matter.

The property owners, it is understood, desire their street to be improved along lines similar to that of Gallia pike. The improvement of Armstrong Place is also being held up pending a decision in the Linden avenue job.

William Gergens, director of public service, announced Thursday morning that he would insist upon the S. Monroe & Son company going ahead and completing the Mabert Road improvement this year. He said the contractors were showing a tendency to lay down on the job after having put in concrete and curbing for one square.

Kelley Bros. have finished laying brick on the upper Gay street improvement and began tarring there Wednesday. They are also pouring concrete for the old Chillicothe road or Garfield street improvement.

I. P. Blanton, Traffic Manager of the Ironton-Ashland Manufacturers' Association, is in Columbus preparing testimony, with A. H. Singleton, traffic manager of the Portsmouth Manufacturers, which will be presented before the State Public Utilities Commission, Thursday in the case of the Whitaker-Glessner Steel Co. against the N. & W. R. R. Co., in which the Whitaker-Glessner Co. and the Ironton furnaces are asking for a reduction of 21 cents in the pig-iron rate from Ironton to Portsmouth, changing the present rate from 53 cents to 32 cents, says the Ironton Register.

The Ironton furnaces ship to the Portsmouth Steel plant annually about 40,000 tons of steel making iron and if the reduction is granted and Ironton men think that it will be, it will mean a saving of close to $10,000 to the Portsmouth concern. Conditions make it imperative that the Whitaker-Glessner Co. buy its pig iron from the Ironton furnaces for though the freight rate from Ironton to Portsmouth is higher than it should be, in the estimation of the shippers, it is still much lower than the rate to any of the iron fields.

If the reduction asked for is granted it will mean that the production of steel by the Whitaker-Glessner Co. will be reduced 21 cents per ton in cost, which will enable them to operate when steel is selling at a lower rate than they could if the reduction is not granted, and since the Ironton furnaces supply practically all of the iron it will mean that Ironton furnaces will be in operation more than before.

Lacy Oysters.
During a discussion on finance in the United States senate one of the speakers traced the history of the various mediums of exchange, their development and changes from the days of barter to the days of gold and silver.

"I call to the attention of the senate," he said in the course of the speech, "that at one time the medium of exchange was oyster shells. Oyster shells were used for money."

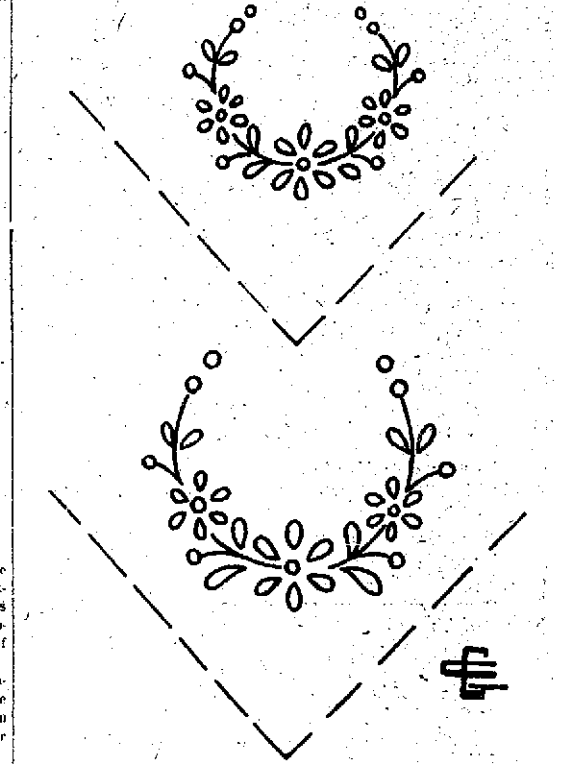

"Delightful!" broke in the late Senator Hoar of Massachusetts. "If that system only prevailed now we could order half a dozen oysters on the half shell and pay for them with the shells."
